learn it

What it is – an implementation of the well-known Flashcard/Leitner-System

– intelligent
– totally modular
– an idea
– a framework
– an application-suite
– an application that will change the way you learn
– an extension of your brain
– your personal learning manager
– a tool that helps you and doesn't require your help
– the coolest software since vim

What it is not

– no vocabulary trainer, although it is perfectly usable as such – no medicine, law or chemistry trainer, although it is perfectly usable as such – thus not targeted towards a specific subject
– no clumsy tool that you're reluctant to use
– not proprietary
– not limited to any specific operating environment
– no quick-hack, but a thoroughly planned software project
